THE MGI-NA COMMUNIQUÉ BULLETIN

April 20, 2009

International Accounting Bulletin credits MGI USA with the highest growth rate in its survey of leading accounting firm networks and associations

The following “News” item appears on the MGI world website.

MGI USA has been cited with the highest growth rate of associations of independent firms by Nicholas Moody in his article ‘A Whole New Ball Game’, (23 February 2009; International Accounting Bulletin).

With a growth rate of 43%, the research carried out by IAB also ranks MGI as 21st in the association lead table for the US. Based on fee income for 2008, the ranking is pitched against competitive associations drawn from data submitted by leading independent associations.

Patrick Riley, former MGI Chair and Chair of MGI North America, said ‘we’ve been very pleased with the growth of MGI North America in recent years. The success is the result of the hard work of the members of the North American Coordinating Committee, Joe Tarasco of Accountants Advisory Group, and most of all the North American members who were willing to provide the financial support to allow this growth to occur.

The North American members we have been able to attract to MGI are dynamic and progressive firms with strong leadership and “best practice” operations. We continue to work hard in North America to grow our membership and I strongly believe that, with the addition of these new members and the leadership of Charles Postal in North America and the leadership of our Executive Director Clive Mieville, we are moving closer to the achieving the strategic vision of MGI to be relevant and valuable to all members.
